After a career of four weeks, "The Evening World" Temporary Relief Fund begins the closing chapter of its history to-day. It has been a glorious career, and each page of its history is illumined with the record of great performed: pictures with the tears shed by people of gentle hearts, who have wept for the helpless ones who have been rescued from despair by the timely intervention of the agents of the Fund.

The generous readers of "The Evening World" have made this temporary relief movement a grand success. They have stood at the shoulder of "The Evening World," sustaining its hands as they always have done in the past in every movement for the betterment of the condition of the helpless, and to those readers it is due the credit of the success attained. How complete that success has been may be gathered from the figures of the Fund.

To begin with, the readers of "The Evening World" have contributed up to date $1,842.21 in cash. They have sent 1,012 parcels of clothing, shoes, blankets and other useful articles to Room 61, Pfleider Building. These have sent contributions of groceries, provisions, bread stuffs and other things of everyday consumption. They have offered employment to such persons as might be recommended by "The Evening World." They have given food and needed articles of wear to persons sent by the Relief Corps to their doors, and many of them have written to say that they were unable to meet the needs recommended to them by the Relief Corps.

What has all this been planned? The Relief Corps, led by Mr. John D. Edwards, investigating the number of cases which had been called to the attention of "The Evening World." The Relief Corps, composed of the best men of the city, have been engaged, and they have been kept continually busy, and they have been kept continually busy.

All these cases have been investigated. A few interesting cases were: the case of the man who was the victim of the West End of that time, the joker who won't know his last address. Relief has been given in the form of cash, and in the aggregate, 1,000 families have been relieved of their poverty by the work of the Relief Corps. In no case has there been any charge of being a scamp. The Relief Fund has been disbursed to 400 persons, in most cases the mothers of families of children, and, in fact, the families have had their immediate wants relieved by way of neighborhood charity, thus helping cases in which distress was the most temporary character.

This work has involved the spending of scores of hundreds of dollars, and the plan to make the money available for the benefit of the Relief Corps, as a rule, very lenient and liberal to their poor tenants, amenable of reason and in justice. When the news of the Relief Fund reached the ears of the public, the world was astounded, and the fund with each other, and they have had an immediate want relieved by way of neighborhood charity, thus helping cases in which distress was the most temporary character.

Indeed, the timely appearance of the members of the Relief Corps, who have been with hard work, working week after week, have saved 1,000 families from starvation in New York and Brooklyn, and have been a blessing to the poor, and the distributors of the temporary Relief Fund.

Many persons have been saved from death by starvation, now, many more people have been saved from the misery of starvation; how many epidemics have been arrested by the timely appearance of the members of the Relief Fund, and the temporary Relief Fund can only be appreciated, but economists say the modern charity system is the greatest blessing to the world, and that the work of the Relief Fund has been done with much, and another in any other way would be less of a help.

The last appeal for aid by the Relief Fund has been made, and the members received by the Fund will be acknowledged in full, and there will be a special service to the Relief Fund on Friday evening, March 10, at the "Evening World" Temporary Relief Fund.

THESE HAVE BEEN HELPED.
